TIMMONS CASE CALLED TODAY

Will Be Third Trial of Men Indicted for First Degree Murder in Connection With Lynching

ILLNESS OF JUDGE SEWARD CAUSES ADJOURNMENT

All Members of Special Venire Respond to Subpoenas---Eleven Men in Jury Box at Noon Hour---Defense Has Exercised Four Peremptory Challenges.

Judge C. W. Seward was taken ill with a severe attack of vertigo late this morning, and during the noon recess he notified Clerk Larason that he would not be able to hold the regular afternoon session and the Timmons' murder case was continued until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The attack is not considered serious and the judge expects to be fully recovered by tomorrow morning.

Very rapid progress was made toward selecting a jury during the morning, and at 10:45 o'clock the jury panel was filled with twelve men.

At this time, of course, the state had four and the defense sixteen peremptory challenges to exercise. At the noon hour the state had not exercised any of its peremptories, while the defense had excused four jurors under this prerogative.

Before adjourning for the noon recess, Attorney J. V. Hilliard asked that the jury be kept together as one body and they were accordingly placed under charge of Bailiff Legge and taken to lunch, and until the end of the trial they will be quartered at the Sherwood hotel.

At present the jury is made up of the following eleven men, the state having four and the defense twelve peremptory challenges:

ALLEN MILLER, Farmer....Mary Ann township
SAMUEL McNAUGHTEN....Utica
G. L. LARKIN, Grocer....Newark City
WILLIAM MASON, Farmer....Madison township
ORA HILLMAN, Farmer....Licking township
VIRGIL TAVENER, Farmer....Bowling Green township
A. J. BALDWIN, Florist....Newark City
WILLIAM H. LUCAS, Concrete Contractor....Newark City
GEORGE W. DISPENNETT, Farmer....Monroe township
W. M. SHIPLEY, Farmer....Bennington township
CHARLES R. HARTSHORN, Farmer....Newark township

Clarence Timmons was brought into the Common Pleas court room Tuesday morning by Deputy Sheriff George R Taylor, and formally placed on trial for his life, the specific charge against the young man, who is not yet 22 years old, being murder in the first degree, the highest crime upon the statute books.

The state alleges in an indictment found by the special grand jury last August against him, that he unlawfully, purposely, maliciously and with premeditated malice, killed and murdered Carl Etherington on or about July 5th last.

Judge C W. Seward ordered Bailiff Legg to open court promptly at nine o'clock, and there was little or no delay in calling the case of Ohio vs. Timmons.

This case is too well known to need any comment in detail. The defendant is one of twenty-five men indicted for murder in the first degree in connection with the lynching of Carl Etherington, a dry detective.

Two have been tried Montello Watha and William McKinley both being found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary, which they are now serving. One indictment, that against Sanford Henry (colored) was nollied, which leaves twenty-two yet to try.

The state announced its readiness for trial by Prosecutor Phil B. Smythe As in the two preceding cases assisting Prosecutor Smythe were William H. Miller and Seth McMillen, retained as special counsel in these lynching cases by Attorney General Hogan, both of these men, especially Mr. Miller, having taken a prominent part in the marshaling of testimony before the special grand jury and in the trial of the two former cases.

Before anything else was done Judge Seward announced that he would not tolerate any spitting upon the floor, and gave notice that anyone violating this order would be cited for contempt of court.

The jury venire was then called and polled by Clerk E. M. Larason and out of the thirty-six names called thirty-five answered. A delay ensued until the arrival of Juror Daniel Knerr of East Newark, who arrived at 9:39.

The defendant is represented in the case by Attorney J. V. Hilliard. The father of Timmons occupied a seat behind him.

The oath known as the voir dire was administered to the entire 36 men in a body. This oath obligates each man to truthfully answer all questions put to him, touching his qualifications to act as a juror, and is examined.

The first prospective juror was mercantile business in Granville and a farmer, who was examined by Mr. Smythe. Mr. Perry had no opinion against defendant in particular and was passed by the state for cause

By Mr Hilliard: "Read papers; had opinion that whoever did the deed should be punished; am a dry man; signed the petition; this fact would not prejudice my verdict. Challenged by defense for cause and questioned by the court.

"Could render an impartial verdict. Challenge overruled and juror accepted.

VIRGIL TAVENER

Farmer and saw mill man of Bowling Green township passed by state and no questions by defense. Accepted

B. F. KENT

Of Newark city had formed and expressed opinion as to Timmons' guilt, questioned by court and excused.

J. M. MITCHELL

Presented certificate of membership in National Guard and was excused.

LEE S. LAKE

Newark city, examined by Mr Smythe, passed by state, and questioned by Mr. Hilliard "Don't know defendant or any of his family; signed dry petition but this would not prejudice him; accepted.

WORTH LILLARD

Had a suit in court in which Smythe & Smythe represented him. Challenged by defendant for cause and excused.

A. J BALDWIN

Florist, Newark city, examined by Mr. Miller. Had formed an opinion of the guilt of those indicted in general, but could render an impartial verdict; passed by state for cause and questioned by Mr Hilliard. He remembered that Timmons had once built an iron fence for him but don't remember any dispute about wages; could start in even between state and defendant; challenged by defense for cause. Overruled, juror accepted.

H. J. HUGHES

Blacksmith of Pataskala, examined by Mr. Miller. Had no opinion as to Timmons in particular, but concerning all who were connected with the

In Congress Will Push Bill for the Perry Centennial Celebration.

Washington, Feb. 14.—A meeting of the Ohio delegation in the house both Republicans and Democrats, was held for the purpose of formulating a plan to get consideration of the Perry centennial bill, which failed of action in the house because of the lack of a quorum when it was called up. Representative Longworth and Representative Thomas were the only members unable to be present.

The matter was discussed by General Sherwood, in whose district the celebration is to be held; Representative Keifer, who introduced the bill; Representative Anderson and others, and it was finally agreed to ask the speaker to help them out.

Mr. Cannon suggested that as the last six days of the session will be suspension days under the rules, that it should be called up then. This will probably be done, and then the efforts will be concentrated upon the senate to get consideration in that body before the adjournment.

DEAN BILL VOTE NEXT TUESDAY OR WEDNESDAY

Columbus, Feb 14.—There is no truth in the report that the Dean bill is to be changed in form by the substitution of the word c[illegible] for municipalities. The supporters of the bill would have pressed it to a vote today but for the absence of several wet members at Cincinnati attending the Legislative investigation there. The claim of the friends of the measure is that it is certain to have 61 votes on final passage and perhaps 70 or more.

The bill is likely to [illegible] out on its passage next Tuesday or Wednesday.

May Represent United States as Special Envoy at Coronation of King George.

Washington, Feb. 14—A report that John Hays Hammond has been selected as United States special envoy to the coronation of King George of England was neither affirmed nor denied at the White House today, Secretary Norton saying he had heard of no appointment.

KIDNAPERS

Attacked Locomotive Engineer, Fractured His Skull and Carried Away Little Daughter.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—The police are searching for kidnapers who last midnight attacked and severely beat Louis Mallow, fracturing his skull and taking away his six-year-old daughter. Mallow is a locomotive engineer. At a hospital today he says he was waiting for a car with his daughter when the attack came.

FARMER SHOT BY MEAT THIEVES

Springfield, Feb. 14.—George Flarida, living two miles north of Springfieldfi went out to investigate a noise in his smokehouse this morning. He evidently caught the thief or thives, and was shot and instantly killed. The police found a meat sack near the smokehouse.

Flarida leaves a wife and eight small children. Two months ago his home burned to the ground. Intense excitement prevails, and a lynching is predicted if the murderers are caught.

DELIRIOUS BRIDE REVEALS SECRET

Poughkeepsie, N. Y, Feb. 14. — A surprise was given by the announcement of the marriage nearly three months ago of Thomas A. Quick, an expert accountant with the Dutchess Fire Insurance Company, and Miss Alma Linquist, a nurse in the Hudson River State Hospital. The couple meant to keep the marriage a secret until March, when they would sail for Bermuda, but in delirium when ill a few days ago Miss Linquist revealed the secret.

When she had recovered and was informed of what she had said, she admitted it was true.

MARSHAL PEET OE UTICA IDENTIFIES ZANESVILLE MAN AS POSTOFFICE ROBBER

Harry Miller, a young man aged 20 years, residing on Underwood avenue at Zanesville O., was identified Tuesday morning by Marshal Wilbur Peet of Utica as one of the three robbers who endeavored to break into the Utica postoffice Thursday night January 12, and with whom Patrolman "Ham" Stewart of this city had a gun battle on North Fourth street, in which a stolen horse driven by the robbers was killed.

Miller was arrested Saturday night by Zanesville officers on suspicion. His actions and some information which he let leak out convinced the Zanesville police officials that he knew something of the Utica robbery. He was locked up and Tuesday morning Marshal Peet positively identified him as one of the three men. United States Marshal Bauer of Cincinnati was present and left immediately for Columbus with Miller where he will be arraigned at once.

It is probable that Officer Stewart and others who were in the vicinity when the gun battle occurred and witnessed the men abandon the stolen rig with which they escaped from Utica, will be summoned to try and identify Miller.

The young man comes from a good family at Zanesville and he denies all knowledge or connection with the crime. He has been in trouble on a number of occasions before.

PROTESTS POURING IN AGAINST THE PROPOSED POSTAL RATE INCREASE

Washington, Feb. 14.—Congressmen and senators are being rapidly buried with letters and telegrams pouring in from all over the country, asking them to kill the proposed postal increase on magazines.

Senator Clark of Minnesota says: "In ten years' experience I have never encountered a measure so unjust and destructive as this."

Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, says: "We want no penalty to be placed on reading matter which has such a far-reaching educational value."

M. M. Madden, representing the typographers of Chicago, says: "This increase would affect 50,000 printers, 25,000 pressmen, 10,000 feeders, 22,000 binders, 24,000 mailers, and many in affiliated trades."

J. S. Scribner, representing the Associated Religious Publications, says: "The 15,000,000 who read religious publications are a unit in opposing this outrageous increase in price on their reading matter."

Norman E. Mack, national Democratic chairman: "Advertising in magazines produces an increased volume of first class mail matter and curtailing the advertising by decreasing circulation through increased postal rates would reduce first class mail matter and increase the postal deficit."

M'CLURE'S STATEMENT.

New York, Feb. 14.—S. S. McClure, leading magazine man, today announced that 100 periodical publishers have pledged themselves to contribute $1000 each into a fund to be used in newspaper advertisements setting forth the publishers' side of the magazine postal increase controversy. McClure says Postmaster General Hitchcock's statement that the magazines are making enormous profits are not true. He says the proposed increase would wipe McClure's and Everybody's out of business, for they would be spending more than they make.

CLAIM IMMENSE TIMBER TRUST IS BEING FORMED

Washington, Feb. 14.—A vast timber trust overshadowing Standard Oil in proportions is now being formed, according to a special report to congress by Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith. Four-fifths of the stocking timber is now privately owned, and the Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific Warehouse Timber Company controls over 11 per cent of the four-fifths. The report says the present standing timber will last only 55 years. It also claims these large holders are not cutting, but are waiting for the increased demand, which will mean a a practical increase. In addition, when the timber is cut there will still be a vast land monopoly, allied with a railroad control of immense proportions.

NO TIME FIXED FOR VOTE ON CANADIAN RECIPROCITY

Washington, Feb. 14—An attempt to fix the time for the final vote on the Canadian reciprocity bill in the House failed today when the measure came up again. House leaders today said the bill might occupy two more full days before reaching a final vote. Representative Underwood spoke in favor of the bill. He scored the present tariff law and said the Democrats now had a chance by passing the Canadian bill to lower some of the prices made possible by the Payne tariff.

Dalzell followed Underwood and jumped all over reciprocity He waived the bloody shirt and dragged out the G. O. P., wept over the farmers' rights and declared the bill was class legislation. He said it was in the interest of foreigners against Americans Speaker Cannon and others shook hands with him when he finished.

Fordney of Michigan, Republican, started another uproar by saying the morning papers told him that Champ Clark and President Taft had slept in one bed and he wanted to warn the Republican president that he would wake up and find he had a nightmare Fordney was severely heckled by both Republicans and Democrats.

Fourteen Private Detectives Called Off Scent of Ghouls' Work

WOULD SUPPRESS NEWS

Family Has Reasons for Wishing to Keep Desecration of Mausoleum From Public.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 14.—While the circumstances point more strongly than ever toward the fact that it was somebody very close to the Strong family the extremely wealthy family of the late Congressman W. L. Scott, who was the directing spirit in the desecration of the Scott mausoleum, more strenuous efforts are being made to suppress the facts of the case. Nobody in Erie who has paid any attention to the developments of the case believes for a moment the statement that was given out Friday by the detectives, that all of the bodies had been found in the mausoleum and that one had simply been transferred to a crypt.

There are 14 private detectives at work on this case and they have now stopped any work toward landing the culprits and are devoting all their efforts to trying to keep the newspaper men from getting any of the facts.

The change of front on the part of the detectives came after they had really worked up the case and found their clues led to a man with whom the Strong family wants to have nothing to do. This man is said to be well known in club life. How this man, whose name is withheld by those who know, and whom the private detectives say has nothing to do with the case, came to be mixed up in the case has been concealed. But certain it is that when the circumstances surrounding the assault on the tomb began to indicate that he was the man who was at the bottom of the whole business, the Strong family is said to have become alarmed and to have sealed the lips of their private detectives.

As long as it was probable that the desecration of the tomb was the work of common ghouls, whose object was to get jewels from the bodies in the mausoleum, the Strongs held the position of a family gravely sinned against and they were willing to tell everything they knew about the robbery and how they had learned of the crime, in order to apprehend the guilty persons. To punish those responsible was the reason the large force of private detectives was employed. But these detectives had not worked very long before they found out who it was that was at the bottom of the whole affair and they so reported to the Strongs.

From that moment the attitude of everybody concerned changed. The influence of the family, and that influence is practically unlimited in Erie, was used to have all the city police who were interested called off the case. The detectives became loud in their predictions that within a few hours there would be an arrest. But they did nothing but talk.

There are three English newspapers in Erie. One of them, the Despatch, a morning daily, is owned by Charles H. Strong, and his wife owns the Herald, an evening daily. These two papers have not printed anything about the affair, save what was first censored by Mrs. Strong. Another paper in Erie, not owned by the Strongs, could not be reached, and then it became necessary for the

WOMAN ASKS FOR PENSION

Sheridan, Wyo., Feb. 14. — Mrs. Louisa Elizabeth Bliss has applied to the clerk of the district court for a civil war pension, asserting that she saw service with the 63d Illinois regiment during the civil war, being disguised as a man and detailed many times in perilous missions as a spy in Confederate camps. A deep scar over her left eye shows where a bullet wounded her. She is now destitute and without relatives or means.

If you chance to lose something of value, advertise for it promptly—and, if necessary, repeatedly. For the majority of men—and about ALL women—are honest; and your ad. ought to secure a prompt visit from the finder.

If you chance to find something of value, and the loser does not advertise for it in the first issue of the paper following his loss, it becomes your duty to advertise it—and repeatedly. Thus you either restore it to its owners, or make your title to it valid.

The Day of Good Old St. Valentine

ST. VALENTINE was a Christian martyr of the reign of Emperor Claudius, suffering death about the year 270. His festival was observed on the 14th of February before the time of Pope Gregory the Great. The custom of sending valentines had its origin in a heathen practice connected with the worship of Juno on or about this day. Its association with St. Valentine is wholly accidental.

OWNER KIENE OF NEWARK CLUB ARRIVES IN CITY TO MEET THE LOCAL FANS

Has Number of Signed Contracts and Large List of Players From Which to Select His Tryouts for the Season—Will Give Newark a Team That Will Be Fighting Right Up at the Top—Bert Blue Here Today.

[illegible] A. Kiene, owner of the Newark [illegible] ball [illegible] city Monday afternoon [illegible] the season's work.

Mr. Kiene [illegible] signed contracts of players and the names of [illegible] which have been furnished him by President Watkins of Indianapolis, President [illegible] of Columbus, Charles Carr and Charles Comiskey. A number of these are [illegible] with the Newark club last season [illegible] the agreement with Mr. Watkins, that he turn over some of the Newark players to the new owner.

The question of a playing manager has not been definitely settled, but three good men are under consideration. Bert Blue is to arrive in the city this afternoon to talk matters over with Mr. Kiene. Bert would like to become a minor magnate and thinks that Newark would about fill the bill. Mr. Kiene is not seeking any associates, but may let Mr. Blue take some of the stock. Bert is an old favorite in Newark and states he has again found his throwing arm and his work last season with the Tiffin team proved that he was just as good as ever.

Owner Kiene is besieged with applications from all over the country and he is going to select those who have been in fast company and give them a thorough tryout. He states that he wants to put a team into Newark that will be a credit not only to himself, but to the city as well.

"I am weeding out the boozers," he said, "and am not going to have any on the list from which I select my tryouts. I want a team of gentlemen players, one that will be aggressive, but one at the same time that will know how to conduct themselves both on and off the field. I intend to take good care of my men and treat them as they should be treated. They will stop at all first class hotels on the circuit, and I want them to leave an impression behind that will redound to the credit of the city."

Mr. Kiene will remain over until Sunday and in the meantime will endeavor to become acquainted with as many fans as possible.

"The success of the team," said Mr. Kiene, "depends on the fans and I wish to be assured that I will have them with me right from the start of the season. I am going to give them the best that can be secured, for I know that the Newark fans appreciate a good team."

Mr. Kiene also wishes to meet with the Board of Trade members and secure their co-operation, for he states a team helps to boost a city from which it hails and it is his intention to keep boosting Newark all the time. It is a well known fact that a good team is one of the best advertising mediums possible. Take the famous old 1907 aggregation that was fighting right at the top throughout the season; they made a name for Newark all over the country, and the same thing can happen again.

Newark is going to be on the baseball map this year and is bound to be heard from. The Ohio State League will advance from Class D to Class C ball, while the Ohio-Pennsylvania League, of which Mansfield, Akron, Youngstown, Sharon and Newcastle form a part, takes a backward step and goes into Class D. Those were the clubs that thought Newark was not a good enough baseball city for their league. It must be a great humiliation for those clubs to drop behind their sister cities of Newark, Lancaster, Chillicothe, Marion, Portsmouth and Lima.

Owner Kiene is quartered at the Warden Hotel and will be pleased at any time to have any of the fans drop in and discuss the team for the coming season. You will find him a live wire, a good fellow and a thorough fan, who is going to give the lovers of the great national game in this city a team that will be up and going from the tap of the gong at the beginning of the season.

An Eye to His Epitaph.

Edmond de Goncourt, the French novelist, admitted that he worked with an eye to his epitaph, and he wanted the epitaph to endure for a long time. He records in his journal that "the thought that the world may perish, may not last forever, is one which occasionally fills my mind with gloom. I should be defrauded by the destruction of this planet, for I have written only in the hope of eternal fame. A reputation lasting 10,000, 20,000, even 100,000 years, would be a poor return for the pains I have taken, the privations I have suffered. Under these conditions it would have been better to lounge aimlessly through life dreaming and smoking my time away."—Chicago News.

PRESIDENT OF OHIO STATERS VISITS CITY

Discusses Newark Club and Thinks It Will Be a Good Paying Proposition.

R. W. Read, president of the Ohio State League, who is also the baseball writer of the Ohio State Journal, who accompanied H. A. Kiene on his trip to Newark Monday expressed himself as confident that under proper management a baseball plant in Newark would be a paying proposition as viewed from any angle. He said that no body realized better than he that the trouble heretofore in Newark has been mismanagement, to a great extent resulting from a disastrous policy of too much management. He was satisfied that under Mr. Kiene this condition of affairs would be a thing of the past, as that gentleman would be the sole controlling spirit, of course employing a playing manager.

From this subject the conversation drifted to baseball topics in general, and those having to do with the Columbus club and several Newark players in particular.

"I don't see why 'Lefty' Snyder has any doubts about making the Columbus outfield," said Mr. Read. "He has the berth practically cinched in [illegible] [illegible]. There is no doubt at all that if he comes to Columbus, does his best and gives the club his best services, he will be a fixture during the 1911 season with the Senators. 'Lefty' is a fine ball player and with him it is only a question of him coming over and doing his best.

"Eight Central League clubs, all there are, have a place in waiting for Outfielder 'Lefty' Snyder, who was with Evansville last year and who can't ask for a better chance than he is to have to make the Columbus club.

"Some years ago Snyder started out as a left-hand pitcher and finally landed at Newark, where he took up outfielding. He came back to Columbus second year before last. There have been many instances of a pitcher turning outfielder and developing into a star. There's no apparent reason why Snyder won't, and the Central Leaguers certainly believe that he will go the A. A. pace."

As to the future of Erve Wratten Read could say no further than that Columbus would let him go to some other club. It would be a fine turn if Newark secured him, but this is hardly probable, as several other clubs would like the hustling third sacker.

lynching; could render impartial verdict and passed by state for cause.

Questioned by Mr. Hilliard: Juror said he would be governed by evidence, and could give defendant an impartial trial; would take some evidence to remove opinion formed. Challenged by defense, overruled and juror accepted.

WILLIAM H. LUCAS

Concrete contractor of Newark city, passed for cause by state and questioned by Mr. Hilliard.

"Have talked to people about the trouble of July 8th, but expressed no opinion; indictment is not to me any evidence of guilt. Accepted.

ALLEN MILLER

Farmer, Mary Ann township, examined by Mr. Miller and passed for cause by state. Examined by Mr. Hilliard: "Was in Newark the day of July 8th and saw some of rioting, but was not in the city that night; could render impartial verdict; accepted.

W. E. LEWIS

Iron molder, Newark city, examined by Mr. Smythe: Had formed no opinion in particular and was passed for cause by the state.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Was not in Newark July 8th; read of lynching in papers; formed an opinion in general but could give defendant a fair trial and the presumption of innocence; have decided opinion on wet and dry question; solicited names for 'drys' but could lay aside any prejudice. Accepted without challenge.

GEORGE SEYMOUR

Farmer, Union township examined by Mr. Smythe. Had formed opinion as to defendant's guilt; excused.

J. E. SNELLING

Real estate dealer, Newark city, examined by Mr. Smythe. Had formed opinion as to guilt of defendant and was excused.

SAMUEL McNAUGHTEN

Of Utica, examined by Mr. Smythe: Had no opinion; don't know Timmons nor any of his family; passed by the state for cause.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Had read papers and talked about lynching but don't remember that I expressed my opinion; could give defendant presumption of innocence; accepted.

C. L. LARKIN

Grocer, Newark city, Examined by Mr. Smythe: Had expressed no opinion as to defendant's guilt and was passed for cause by the state.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Saw some of the trouble at the Last Chance saloon last July 8th; could presume defendant innocent; fact of indictment might have some weight. Accepted.

FRANK H. TAYLOR

Carpenter and contractor of Newark city. Examined by Mr. Miller: Had formed an opinion to some extent by reading and talking and couldn't start in without prejudice. Challenged by defense for cause and excused.

DANIEL KNERR

Baltimore and Ohio conductor, examined by Mr. Miller: Had no opinion about Clarence Timmons individually; don't know Timmons or any of his family; excused.

WILLIAM MASON

Farmer of Madison township. Examined by Mr. Miller: Had no opinion as to defendant's guilt or innocence. Accepted.

HARRY BUTT

Stone dresser of Newark city, examined by Mr. Miller. Passed by state for cause.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Expressed an opinion as to the guilt of whole bunch. My brother was on grand jury which returned this indictment; never discussed the matter with him but the fact might have some influence in my reaching a verdict. Challenged and excused.

ORA HILLMAN

Farmer, Licking township, passed by both state and defendant, making the panel complete and the state expressed themselves as satisfied. The defense exercised its first peremptory challenge and excused L. W. Perry.

A. W. LAUGHLIN

Stationary engineer, Newark city. Examined by Mr. Smythe; had formed opinion as to the defendant's guilt and would be prejudiced. Excused.

GEO. W. DISPENNETT

Farmer, Monroe township, had expressed or formed no opinion as to defendant and was passed for cause by the state.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Have read and heard about lynching but could give defendant an impartial trial. Accepted.

The defense exercised its second peremptory challenge and L. S. Lake was excused.

EDWARD BUXTON

Farmer, Hartford township. Examined by Mr. Smythe: opposed to capital punishment and excused.

ROBERT F. HUFFMAN

Pattern maker at the B. and O. shops. Examined by Mr. Smythe: Had known Timmons' father for 20 years but not the young man; expressed no opinion. Passed by both sides, but excused by the court on account of serious illness of his wife.

W. M. SHIPLEY

Farmer, Bennington township examined by Mr. Smythe and passed for cause.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Read of lynching, formed some opinion in general but could render a fair verdict. Accepted.

CHARLES R. HARTSHORN

Farmer, Newark township, examined by Mr. Miller and passed by state for cause.

By Mr. Hilliard: "Read and talked about lynching but formed no opinion; could render a fair verdict; accepted.

Further inquiry was made of Juror Hughes as to his physical condition; as he said he was nervous and hardly thought he could sit through the trial, but the court ruled that he did not think he was seriously sick. The juror then stated from the box that he had been very active on the dry side and might be prejudiced and he was peremptorily challenged by the defense.

FRANK GRAY

Carpenter of Licking township, had formed an opinion as to the defendant's guilt and was excused.

BOY JUMPS FROM WAGON IN FRONT OF AUTO

John Moore Injured by Heisey Machine, Monday Evening—Taken to Hospital and is Doing Nicely.

John Moore, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Moore, of 425 Central avenue, is in the City hospital today as a result of being knocked down by an automobile on Central avenue late Monday afternoon. The machine is owned by Mr. George Heisey, postmaster, and was driven by his chauffeur, Frank Boure.

The lad was riding on a wagon up Central avenue and without taking time to make note of the approaching auto jumped off in front of the Heisey machine, which fortunately was being driven at a very moderate rate of speed. The boy was knocked to the ground, the machine running over him, but the car was stopped before going twice its length. Mr. Heisey was in the machine at the time and went immediately to the assistance of the lad, picking him up and taking him into the Fulk residence, in front of which the accident happened.

Physicians were called, Dr. Carl Evans and Dr. J. N. Wright responding. An examination was made and the boy was taken to the City hospital in Criss Brothers' and Jones' ambulance. It was found that he had sustained a fracture of the left arm at the shoulder and several painful head and body bruises but it is yet too early to ascertain whether he has received any internal injuries.

An eye witness to the accident stated that no blame could be attached to the owner or driver of the machine and that the accident was entirely unavoidable, for it was being driven at a comparatively low speed.

The little lad's condition is most satisfactory today and the hospital attendants expect no serious results.

AN UP-TO-DATE DRUGGIST

says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by F. D. Hall, druggist.

MEXICAN REBELS

RIDICULE ASSERTION THAT MADEIRO IS IN HIDING IN EL PASO, TEXAS.

Reported Battle Near Juarez Was Merely Long-Range Skirmish Between Outposts.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 14.—Following the arrest of Casilass and the issue of warrants for Madeiro, revolutionary sympathizers here are openly claiming that the United States is pulling Diaz chestnuts from the fire. United States officials say they are merely preserving the neutrality laws. Mexican rebels here ridicule the assertion that Madeiro is in El Paso, but officials believe he is here. There is still nothing doing with regards to a battle between forces on the border.

The Mexican junta here has received a message from Gonzales saying he has established headquarters at Saragosa, 13 miles below Juarez on the Rio Grande. The reported battle south of Juarez yesterday is now known to have been a long range skirmish between outposts. Juarez is still completely shut off from communication with the rest of Mexico.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

MILLS–WILKEN.

At 6:30 o'clock Monday evening, Rev. L. C. Sparks united in wedlock Mr. Eli Mills, a young farmer residing near Utica, and Miss Florence Wilken, a well known and highly esteemed resident of this city. The ceremony took place at the minister's home on North Fifth street. In a short time the happy couple will be at home to their friends on the groom's farm near Utica.

The Monday Talks convened in the Assembly room in the Auditorium building on the club day and the following program proved interesting:

Life in the Universities — Mrs. Schmidt.

Review of German Mystery Stories — Mrs. Sprague.

How Some of the Novelists Work — Miss Louise Hunter.

The Travelers' club held the regular meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church at Granville on Monday afternoon and the program was given as follows:

Child Labor—Mrs. E. P. Cook.

The Pure Food Law—Miss Roe.

The guests of the club were Mrs. Hartford, Mrs. Treasize, Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Scheidler entertained the members of the Monday Evening club at their suburban home on the club night. The evening was spent in playing euchre, the club trophies being awarded to Mrs. George Flory and Mr. Ralph Davis, while Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones received the guest's favors.

A two course luncheon was served the following members and guests: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gard, Mr. and Mrs. George Flory, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krieg, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhoades and Mr. and Mrs. Edward King.

The Investigators' club assembled at the home of Mrs. Rose Wilson in North Fifth street on Monday afternoon and a most interesting program was given. The calendared account follows:

Roll Call Longfellow.

William Allen White Miss Orr.

Pronunciation Drill—Miss Fulton.

Critic—Mrs. Weaver.

The next meeting will not be held until February 27 when the members will be entertained at the home of Miss Orr in Hudson avenue.

On Saturday evening Miss Nellie Nethers entertained a number of her friends at her home in Toboso. The evening was spent informally and a buffet luncheon was served the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames J. W. Nethers, H. F. Nethers, J. E. Gault, H. E. Loughman, H. H. Postle, F. S. Montgomery, Mrs. Kate Horn of Newark, and Mrs. Clyde Hoovler, Misses Beathice Lehman, Nellie and Mary Nethers, Elizabeth and Nellie Irwin, Iva Weakley and Grace Loughman, Messrs. James Esworthy, Wendell Postle, Milton Jones, Ray Berkshire, Kenneth Nethers, Ralph Frey and Clarence Varner.

The Olympian club danced at Assembly hall on Monday evening. A large number of dancers were present and a most excellent dance program was furnished.

The Cup of Cold Water Circle of The King's Daughters visited at the Girls' Business club Monday evening. A delightful social time was had and an impromptu musical and literary program was given.

HEART and HOME TALKS

Confessions of a Young Housekeeper

by Barbara Boyd

Valentines.

A GREAT, lovely heart-shaped box of violets came this morning with a real heart-warming little verse about the dearest valentine in the world. Of course, I know it was from Jim. At noon, came a frothy bit of lacy paper with a nonsensical little stanza which nevertheless made the world look very rosy. Jim, of course, sent that too. He's going to get some things at his office which I know will make him feel just as happy as I do. Tonight, I'm going to have a real valentine dinner just for the two of us, lots of hearts and darts and all sorts of foolish things everywhere.

Sober, matter-of-fact people think this is all folderol. But I don't. Neither does Jim. That's one reason he's so nice. He doesn't think that because we got married we need to get prosy. He does all the nice things and says all the nice things that he did when we were engaged. He says things like these are not put on for some certain period. They are part of him and part of life. They don't drop off because one crosses the boundary between the single and the wedded state.

He believes, and so do I, in holding on to the sentiment and the rose color of life. It would become a terrible drab tone if we didn't. That's the trouble with my neighbor next door. I thought she looked a bit wistful when I showed her my violets. If her husband sent her a valentine, I know she would be tickled to death. But he's one of the men who think their wives ought to take their love for granted since they pay all the bills without grumbling too much. Just as if love should settle down to expressing itself through bills! Think of poor little Cupid in such business! I asked her why she didn't send her husband a valentine. She laughed, a little bitterly I thought, and said he would never think of its coming from her for one thing, and if it did finally dawn upon him that maybe she was the sender, he would think she was crazy.

Now isn't that a state of affairs! They really do love each other. There's no doubt about that. But don't they miss a lot of the poetry of loving by just sticking to the bread and butter fare of life and never splurging on angel cake and frothy whipped cream? He probably wouldn't love her any more because he sent her the valentine, but it would undoubtedly make her day brighter. Life flows on through gray days the same as on golden ones, but surely it's pleasanter when the sun shines.

For my part I am very fond of St. Valentine or Bishop Valentine or whoever it was who cooked up this pretty scheme for all true lovers. He knew it was adding fire to fuel to enwrap love's offering in mystery. What woman does not love a man the more for such an offering at her shrine, the offering in which self is left out and only her delight thought of? And that, after all, is the message of the valentine—unselfish love. The sender expects no acknowledgment, no personal appreciation. He entirely forgets self. His sole desire is to give happiness, not to get it.

FREE SAMPLE CURED OLD PERSON'S BOWEL TROUBLE

One of the most remarkable proofs of the unusual laxative merit contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is that it is effective not only in people in the prime of life, but at the extremes of ages. As many letters are received from mothers regarding the cures of children, as from men and women of sixty, seventy and eighty years of age. It must be truly a wonderful laxative.

In the cure of constipation and bowel trouble in old people it has no equal. It corrects the constipation, dispels the headache, biliousness, gas, drowsiness after eating, etc. People advancing in years should see to it that their bowels move freely, and if they do not to take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You can prolong your life by healthy bowel action. Clogged bowels invite disease. Women about to pass the menstrual period cannot do better than use Syrup Pepsin several times a week until the system has settled to its future condition.

Among the strongest supporters of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are Mr. W. G. Zorn of New Decatur, Ala. and Mr. George S. Spaulding of the National Soldiers' Home, Kansas, both elderly men. The regular size bottles can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar, but a free sample bottle can be had by sending your address to the doctor.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 141 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Queen Fritters.—In a saucepan put one cupful of hot water, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one level tablespoonful sugar and the thinly cut rind of half a lemon. Boil five minutes, skim out the lemon rind, stir in quickly one and a quarter cupfuls of dry flour. Stir and beat until the dough does not adhere to spoon or pan; take from the fire, cover and set aside 15 minutes. Then work in one at a time, five raw eggs. It should then be a thick batter. This can be prepared an hour or two before cooking. If necessary. Drop by small spoonfuls into smoking hot fat. They should swell to two or three times their size when dropped in. When brown, drain and serve with a liquid sauce.

Chocolate Macaroons.—Grate one-quarter of a pound of chocolate and mix one-quarter of a pound of sifted powdered sugar and one-quarter of a pound of blanched and ground almonds. Add a pinch of cinnamon and mix to a soft paste with eggs, beaten until thick. Drop in half teaspoonfuls on slightly buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven. Do not take from the paper until cold, then brush the under side with cold water, and the paper can be readily stripped off.

"He Saw a Big Black Bear"

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Great-granddaddy's Story

"CHILDREN," said daddy one evening, "here is a story which was told to me when I was a little boy by my grandfather. He was, of course, your great-granddaddy. It was a story of the time when he was a boy, so you see it is a very old story indeed.

"When great-grandfather was a boy this country was not settled as much as it is now. Where he lived there was no city or town or even a village—only a clearing in the woods. In the woods were many wild animals, especially great big bears, with long, sharp claws and big shaggy arms, with which they used to hug persons and animals to death. Bears are big and clumsy looking, but they are very strong and sometimes very quick.

"One day the parents of the boy in this story—I shall call him the boy, for great-grandfather is too long to repeat many times—had to leave him alone in the cabin with his baby sister. They had to go to the nearest town, which was several miles away. They had to leave early in the morning, and they would not be back until the evening, so they told the boy to be careful about leaving the door of the cabin open, for fear that a bear might find his way in. The boy promised to be very careful, and the parents set out.

"Everything went well in the morning. There were no signs of bears or other wild animals, so the boy left the door open in order to let in the sweet summer air. The little baby sister played about the floor of the cabin, and toward noon the boy made a fire in order to warm up some milk for her and some dinner for himself. When the fire was burning brightly the boy filled the kettle with water and hung it over the fire to boil. He gave the baby her milk, and then, as she was sleepy, he put her to sleep in her little cradle.

"While the water in the kettle was heating the boy thought he would sit down and look over one of his picture books. He became so interested in the book that he quite forgot about open doors and bears and everything else until he suddenly saw a shadow falling across his page. Then, looking up, he saw right in the doorway a big black bear just coming into the cabin.

"You may be sure the little boy was scared. He had no gun or big knife or pitchfork or club or anything else with which to fight the bear, and he did not know what to do. The bear came slowly into the room, sniffing and waddling on his big hind paws, and came straight toward the cradle where the baby sister lay. Then the little boy had an idea. He seized the kettle of hot water by the handle and threw the water right over the bear. The animal howled with pain and was so frightened that he turned right around, ran out of the cabin and went back into the woods."

Healthy Mothers

The bearing of children is frequently followed by poor health for the mother. This supreme crisis of life finding her physical system unprepared for the demands of nature, leaves her with weakened resistive powers and sometimes chronic ailments. This can be avoided if Mother's Friend is used before the coming of baby, and the healthy woman can remain a healthy mother. It is the only remedy that perfectly and thoroughly prepares the system for healthy motherhood, and brings about a natural and easy consummation of the term. Women who use Mother's Friend are always saved much suffering when the little one arrives, and recover more quickly, and with no ill effects, or chronic troubles. Every expectant mother should safeguard her health by using Mother's Friend, thus preparing her physical condition for the hour of motherhood. This medicine is for sale at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup will Surprise You

Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guiaicol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Our Political Postoffice

John Wanamaker was Postmaster General; Senator Boies Penrose is chairman of the great Postoffice Committee of the United States Senate; Thomas H. Carter, Senator from Montana, has served many years on that committee.

No three men in the United States are better versed in postoffice affairs and needs than these.

On February 9, 1911, the Senate Postoffice Committee, under the leadership of Senators Penrose and Carter, reported favorably to the Senate for action the Postoffice Appropriation bill, containing a provision, put in without allowing public hearing or open consideration, but under political pressure from the White House, that increases the postage rate on magazines and periodicals to such an extent that it practically absorbs all the profits of the publishing business of the country and makes the further production of popular-priced magazines impossible. It imposes a tax that is confiscatory.

Notwithstanding, within the year Senator Boies Penrose said, referring to the Carter-Weeks bill:

> "These are some of the big features of the bill. The whole intent is to systematize and to modernize the entire postal system. It is idle to take up such questions as apportioning the cost for carrying second-class mail matter or the proper compensation of railroads for transporting the mails until we shall have established business methods in postoffice affairs by a reorganization of the whole postal system.
> "The commission unanimously recommended the passage of the projected bill. Personally I have been very much interested in all the details and, of course, am heartily in favor of the changes to be made."

Senator Carter said last March:

> "But I must forego further pursuit of details. The bill was cordially approved by Postmaster General Meyer and his assistants, and likewise has the approval of Postmaster General Hitchcock. It failed of passage during the last Congress owing to lack of time for its proper consideration, but I have reintroduced the bill, which is now designated Senate 6287, Second Session, Sixty-first Congress. The Committee on Postoffices and Postroads will favorably report the bill to the Senate, and it should be enacted into law before the close of this session. I believe not only that it will increase efficiency, but that, after the expense of installation is absorbed, it will result in such economies in the administration of the department and service as will ere long wipe out the deficiency. In operating under it the department will be able with almost unerring certainty to determine the actual cost of each service performed, thereby reaching a sound basis for legislation such as is neither available nor obtainable under the present system.
> "I deeply sympathize with the earnest desire of the department officials to get rid of the deficiency they are fated to encounter each year, but I submit that the first real movement toward that end must begin with the substitution of a modern, up-to-date business organization for the existing antiquated system, which rests upon a few sections of law enacted in 1835, supplemented by statutory fragments added from time to time since that year."

John Wanamaker said recently:

> "With Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion, however, there will be no general agreement. The magazines are supported, not by the price paid for the magazine by the readers, but by the advertisers.
> "In a sense, magazines are private concerns; but they have a public function to perform—an educational function. To tax the advertisements is to tax the quality of the educational matter contained in the pages, for the advertisements enable the publishers to pay high prices for literature and educational articles. The price paid for a magazine does not pay for the printing and paper. If Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion should become part of the President's plan it would mean that the public would suffer in the loss of much educational material that the publishers then would be unable to buy."

We urge every friend of honest politics, economical government and a free press to telegraph or write an immediate protest to their Senators and Representatives at Washington.

COMPULSORY SPRAYING

Former Park Superintendent of Cincinnati Now in Columbus to Push the Measure.

J. W. Rodgers, former park superintendent of Cincinnati, is in Columbus to urge the enactment of a law for compulsory spraying of ornamental and fruit trees. He conferred with officials of the state board of agriculture and Governor Harmon, and they approved of the idea.

He will appear before the house and senate agricultural committees to push the proposition. Mr. Rodgers says the spraying process is the only salvation of the trees.

"Many of the trees in cities are weakened by the sulphurous fumes, and are so badly devitalized by the pests which attack them that they do not recover" said Mr. Rodgers.

"The trees are the greatest assets of the land and by spraying them they can be preserved. Spraying should be compulsory and the law should be so that if citizens do not spray, that this could be done at a small expense by the state. People do not spray because they know so little about it.

"There is a new nursery and inspection law going in and I think a provision could be appended to it providing for compulsory spraying.

SWAIN LOVED TWO SISTERS

One Was Married, the Other Single, and Two Suits for Damages Furnish the Sequel.

Boston, Feb. 14.—Falling in love with two sisters, one of whom is married, as a result of which the married sister has been estranged from her husband, is the substance of charges made against Charles A. Eaton, a wealthy Dedham farmer, whom William K. Delorey has sued for $25,000.

The married sister to whom Eaton is alleged to have paid too much attention is Delorey's young and pretty wife. Delorey charges alienation of his wife's affections. The wife, in an interview yesterday, denied that she had done anything wrong.

The other sister with whom Eaton is alleged to have spent much time is Miss Margaret B. Kenney. She is older than Mrs. Delorey. She sued Eaton for breach of promise of marriage. The case was settled out of court.

Miss Kenney also brought a suit for alleged slander against her aunt, Mrs. Annie Southern of 677 Hyde Park avenue for $5000. The young woman alleges her aunt made remarks that caused Eaton to break off their engagement and desert her for her married sister.

Mrs. Delorey, who is about 20 years of age, talked frankly about her domestic troubles. This is what she had to say:

"I hardly know which way to turn. I was not responsible for Mr. Eaton's calls at the house. My wife invited him to come and spend his evenings. He used to call to see Margaret. My aunt didn't like my husband, and when he came back from Maine she refused him the house and we didn't meet."

When Delorey went to Maine last summer in search of health his wife went to the home of her aunt. It is charged the aunt tried to break off the friendship between Eaton and Miss Kenny, but countenanced the acquaintance of Eaton and Mrs. Delorey.

Mrs. Annie Southern, the aunt, said:

"I never allowed Mrs. Delorey and Mr. Eaton to stop in my house until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Eaton never called here to see Mrs. Delorey. When he did call he came to see me and not her."

Miss Joy's Valentine

By AGNES G. BROGAN

[Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.]

MISS JOY sat in the cozy parlor of the little flat and awaited Dorothy's coming. The scarlet paper hearts that she was threading upon a long bright ribbon gave a pretty touch of color to her soft gray gown. Perhaps Dorothy would bring some young friends with her, and she wished the little home to wear a holiday appearance, for it was St. Valentine's day—always a time of memories to little Miss Joy.

The name which her parents had given her would have seemed a mockery to a nature other than her own, for Miss Joy's life from childhood had been as colorless as the gray of her gown. She was looking back into that childhood tonight and recalling the time when her own mother had died and her father's sister had agreed to raise and educate one of the many children, and the choice had fallen upon her, the youngest of the brood.

"You must be very grateful to Aunt Martha," her elder sister told her, but later, when Joy went to live at the old farmhouse, it was a question with the village folk to whom gratitude was due, for Aunt Martha was a partial invalid and the willing heart and hands of little Joy never failed to supply each need. There came a time when the invalid could only sit quietly all day long, still she ruled her young subject with an iron hand and demanded undivided service.

Joy never had known a girl friend, but sometimes when a neighbor stopped to gossip with Aunt Martha she would steal down to the roadway and sit there, perched upon the gatepost, waiting for Bobbie to pass from school. If a red apple had been placed in his lunch box Bobbie would save it for Joy, and when the first spring flowers appeared he searched the woods and fields to take them to her. Though they often met in the village and walked home together through the country lanes, Bobbie was never allowed to cross the threshold of Aunt Martha's home, and as the years passed a strong purpose was forming in the young man's mind. One day he would carry Joy away from it all and make her as happy as she deserved to be. He had sent a book to her at Christmas time, and it was promptly returned with a little note. "Aunt Martha will not allow me to accept presents," she had written, but there was one day in which he could send a message to assure her of his loyalty—the day set apart for all lovers, the day of good St. Valentine. So Joy hoarded her lacy missives and folded them away one by one with their cupids and golden darts, mementos of the few happy hours of her life.

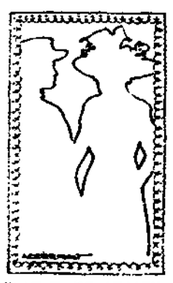

AND SIT THERE, PERCHED UPON THE GATEPOST.

The paper hearts dropped unheeded to the floor, and Miss Joy's fingers lay idle as she recalled one evening that Bobby would not be dismissed at the doorway, but had walked into the presence of her aunt and asked her consent to their marriage. Even now she shuddered at the recollection of Aunt Martha's uncontrollable anger. "Have I raised and cared for a child," she cried, "to have her leave me helpless and alone in my old age? She shall choose between us!"

Poor girl! The choice had been made for her. In her old aunt's very helplessness was the answer to her appeal. She had walked with Bobbie down the path to the gateway that evening. "If you will wait," she whispered — "if you will wait and be true."

His voice was harsh with disappointment. "You have chosen between us," he answered and left her standing there alone. Later she heard that he had gone away to take his place in the great busy world which she had never seen.

"YOU HAVE CHOSEN BETWEEN US," HE ANSWERED.

Oh, that was a lonely time for the girl! But as St. Valentine's day drew near Joy once more became her happy self. She was very sure that he would send a message and hastened with her tasks that she might go to the village herself on St. Valentine's day. A friend had stopped in to visit Aunt Martha, so Joy pinned on her hat. "I will just run down to the postoffice," she said. But her bright hopefulness vanished as her aunt spoke.

"You need not go out," she said; "Mrs. Brent has brought my mail." And that was all. She had not remembered. She turned away to hide the sudden tears which filled her eyes. New scenes and new faces, perhaps, had made it easy for him to forget. Miss Joy sighed and picked up the scarlet hearts again.

Many years had passed since then—more than one could believe when looking at her youthful face.

Joy had sold the rambling old homestead and, keeping just enough furniture to make the little city flat comfortable, had disposed of the rest at auction.

A bell again summoned her. This time it was a messenger boy with a large square envelope. Miss Joy's hand trembled as she signed her name in the book, and her heart beat rapidly, for the envelope was addressed to herself, and the handwriting was Bobbie's own. She carried it nearer to the light and hesitated a moment before breaking the seal. Then she stood quite bewildered, for the outer envelope had inclosed another yellowed with age. "Miss Joy Winthrop," she read again, but the writing upon the second envelope was unformed and lacked the bold assurance of the other. Miss Joy examined the postmark closely. It bore the very date of the year that Bobbie had gone away. She trembled a little as she tore it open, then stood gazing with unseeing eyes at an old fashioned lace valentine. How had it found its way to her through all the years?

PAPER HEARTS THAT SHE WAS THREADING.

Again the electric bell called, and as she opened the door she still held closely the yellowed lacy valentine. A man entered the room quickly—a man with a fine strong face. He looked keenly at the little figure before him.

"Joy!" he cried, and the one word was like an exclamation of delight upon his lips.

"Bobbie," she whispered, for it was the eyes of the boy which seemed to be looking down into her own. He smiled as he saw the valentine in her hand.

"Let me tell you about it, Joy," he said. "I know now that you were never permitted to read the letters which I wrote both before and after the valentine was sent upon its way, but at that time I believed myself to be forgotten, and I studied and worked unceasingly, trying to efface the memory of the one little girl in the world.

"Not long ago I read of your aunt's death in a home paper which had been mailed to me, and as soon as I could arrange affairs I traveled back to the dear old village with the faint hope that I might see you and still find you free. But other people were living at the farmhouse, and no one could tell me where you had gone, so mere chance led me to this city, and was it chance or fate which caused me to pause before a store window where a quaintly carved old desk was displayed? It was for sale, the auctioneer told me, and, though it is unusual for me to take a sudden fancy of that kind, I purchased the desk and had it sent on to my home.

THE SCARLET HEARTS NODDED AND SWAYED.

"A few days ago upon examining it closely I noticed that one little drawer refused to move, and you may imagine my surprise when, finally dislodging it, I found the obstruction to be an envelope which I had addressed to you so many years ago. Instantly your long silence was explained. I remember now that this desk stood in your aunt's room upon that memorable night of my visit, and my letters to you probably had been locked away in the drawer where only the valentine remained to tell the story. Immediately I obtained your address from the auctioneer, and, finding your name still unchanged, dear, I sent the old time valentine to prepare you for my coming."

The scarlet hearts nodded and swayed above their heads, the roses were filling the room with their fragrance, and there in the soft shaded light a little table was waiting with places for two.

Why She Quit Her Job.

A lady of my acquaintance in Tokyo, says a writer in the World Wide Magazine, possessed a valuable servant of somewhat mature years who rejoiced in the poetic name of Oharu San—"The Honorable Miss Spring."

One day Miss Spring brought in luncheon as usual. All seemed serene; there was not a shadow of a cloud in the domestic sky. But at teatime no tea appeared; neither, in answer to calls at first patient and afterward impatient, did Oharu. After awhile the lady went herself to the back regions and found—desolation. The charcoal box was filled with gray ashes, the kettle cold. Half the luncheon plates lay immersed in a bowl of soapy water, the other half stood on the sink ready to be put away. Oharu herself simply was not.

The next morning, however, she reappeared, very much on her company manners, with a clean kimono and her hair done in a shining bun to denote the state of a matron, demanding the fragment of wages due to her since the beginning of the month. The lady expostulated and asked why the servant was leaving thus suddenly.

"Oh," replied Oharu, "just as I was washing the plates yesterday I remembered that Saito San, the pawnbroker, wanted a wife. Therefore I went out and married him."

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature R. V. Pierce M.D.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how wise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"I [illegible] I suffered very severely [illegible]

[illegible] My [illegible] to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am [illegible] and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

COUNCIL [illegible] TO ASSIST LIBRARY

Granville Aldermen Take Action at Meeting Held Monday Evening. News of the Village.

Granville, Feb 14. It begins to look now as though Granville was to have a real public library, a library that will be kept up by the entire people. A meeting of the village council was held Monday night, at which Messrs Ferguson, Jones, Partridge, Rusler and Thomas were present with Mayor Barnes in the chair for the purpose of taking action on the matter. The people who have been in charge of the library, have been working unceasingly in its interest and a petition signed by about three hundred of the citizens, asking for assistance for the library was not to be lightly disposed of. The matter was discussed at considerable length, and finally resulted in the adoption of a motion, inasmuch as the library people desired some expression on the part of the council that it was the expression or intention of council to give the library substantial financial aid to be made in the levy in June, 1911. This motion was adopted by the unanimous vote of the council.

Clerk Evans reported that he had received a telegram from Attorney E. B. Denning of Pittsburg to the effect that application would be made to the Circuit court at Canton, O. on Thursday, February 16, to dissolve the injunction in the case of the Village of Granville against the Crawford Natural Gas company.

The apportionment ordinance for the six months ended June 30, 1911, was passed under a suspension of the rules.

Granville merchants are receiving a fine line of spring goods, evidence of their prosperity.

The music loving people of Granville and Newark are anticipating a rare treat in the recital to be given in Recital hall on Wednesday night by Julian Pascal, the celebrated New York pianist and teacher. The recital will be in the Students' Conservatory Artists' course, and will be one of the very best in the course. It was quite possible to engage Hans Richard, who has played here twice, but the Conservatory faculty after hearing Mr Pascal last June decided to bring him here if possible. Mr Pascal's fee is one hundred dollars, but as the Conservatory is standing back of it, no one should hesitate as to the merit of the artist or the value of the opportunity offered.

Mr A Needles and son Doyle of Galena, O., have been visiting Harry Needles and family at their home on the Howell farm, for a few days.

Roe Morrow, son of T. E Morrow, recently underwent an operation at a hospital in Columbus.

Fred Welsh, who has been quite sick at his home north of town, has been back at his old place in the Howell Provision store for some days.

Mrs. Amos Ludwig has purchased the Thomas Cain property on North Granger street, it is understood, for $2,100.

A Court of the Tribe of Ben Hur will be instituted in Assembly Hall, Granville, on the night of February 23, at 8 o'clock. State Manager J C Foster of Dayton will be present and make an address, and possibly one of the Supreme officers. It is confidently expected that there will be seventy-five new beneficial members obligated. Anyone who should desire to join this number apply to the district manager, C. R Sargent. This is likely to become one of the strong, permanent orders of Granville.

ROLLIN BROWNE PASSES AWAY AT HOME IN DENVER

Brothers in This City Notified That Dissolution Occurred Monday. Interment in Denver.

The sad intelligence was received here from Denver, Colo., on Monday evening, that Mr. J. R. Browne, known to all his friends in Newark as Rollin Browne, had died at his home in that city on Monday morning about 11 o'clock, after an illness of a long time with a complication of troubles.

The deceased, who was aged about thirty-four years, was the second son of the late James M. Browne, of this city. He was a young man who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him, and he numbered his friends by the hundreds. Rollin obtained a good common education in the public schools of Newark, but when quite young quit school to go into business. After leaving school he managed the cycle store of Harry Hoover for a time, but was finally obliged to give up business here and seek health in another climate. From here he went to New Mexico where he remained for several years, his health having greatly improved, when he went to Denver, where he immediately became associated with the Kendrick Book and Stationery company, with which firm he has been connected ever since. Some eight years ago he was married to Miss Esther Brown a daughter of a prominent resident of that city. One son, James M. Browne, was born of the marriage, and is still living.

The funeral services will be held at the late home of the deceased on Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and the interment will be made in one of the cemeteries there.

The deceased is survived by two brothers, Edward S. Browne and Samuel Browne of the well known J. M. Browne's Sons grocery, and a large number of relatives.

FUNERAL OF T. M. TAYLOR.

The funeral of the late Thomas M. Taylor, who died at his home, 158 North Fifth street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock took place from his late home, Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the services being conducted by the Rev. R. L. Vernon, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, and the interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery. The funeral was attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the deceased.

MRS. THOMAS H. KELLER.

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas H. Keller will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel at Cedar Hill cemetery.

The body of Mrs. Keller will arrive from Pasadena, Calif., at 9:55 Thursday morning, and will be taken to Bowers' undertaking parlors where it may be viewed by friends from 10:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.

AFTER-EFFECTS OF ACUTE FEVERS

It Was Not Until He Tried the Tonic Treatment That His Health Was Restored.

Many whose health has been wrecked by an attack of typhoid, scarlet or malarial fever or of the grip, will be interested in the manner in which one sufferer found relief from the condition in which the acute attack left him. Mr. D. A. Kephart, now living at No. 211 Richmond street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says:

"About six years ago I had typhoid fever while working in a lumber camp near Altoona, Pa. The disease left my bowels in such a condition that the doctors told me I could not be cured. My bowels were inactive and bloated. I had to take strong laxatives all of the time but even that did not give me relief. My appetite was good but what I ate distressed me. I was dizzy and frequently would topple over while walking along the street.

"I was treated by several doctors and tried many kinds of medicines but nothing helped me until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I gave them a good trial with the result that my bowels became regular. My blood soon became in good condition and I have been well ever since."

The symptoms shown when the health is wrecked by the attack of an acute disease differ in almost every case but the condition is one which calls emphatically for a tonic for the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine for this purpose for they act directly on the blood which they cleanse of all impurities.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anaemia, rheumatism, sciatica, nervousness, after-affects of the grip and fevers, and neuralgia, owing to their blood-building property. These pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand-fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NEW CORN CURE A REAL MARVEL

Guaranteed and Absolutely Painless.

A corn cure that is painless and that will really do the work has finally been discovered. Heretofore, the poor sufferer from corns has been pestered with "drawing" salves and plasters that swell the corns, and has had finally to gouge out his corn and inflict upon himself still greater pain. With Hall's Painless Corn Cure all pain ceases on the first application, and then finally the corn comes right off easily and painlessly. You don't have to dig it out and run the risk of drawing blood, making your corns still more sore or getting blood poison.

Hall's Painless Corn Cure is easier to use than any other; it takes a few seconds to apply it. It is guaranteed absolutely in every case. You must be satisfied, or back goes your money.

Lasts longer than several packages of any other corn treatment, and you are sure to get rid of corns and bunions. Sold at 25 cents a bottle at

Hall's Drug Store

Next door to Interurban Station.

PIMPLES

"I tried all kinds of blood remedies which failed to do me any good, but I have found the right thing at last. My face was full of pimples and black-heads. After taking Cascarets they all left. I am continuing the use of them and recommending them to my friends. I feel fine when I rise in the morning. Hope to have a chance to recommend Cascarets." Fred C. Witten, 76 Elm St., Newark, N. J.

TO STOP INQUIRY

Strongs to bottle up all information. The police had been called off and the only people who knew what was happening were members of the Perkins and Burns detective agencies. They were in the pay of the family, and the edict went forth that above all things, the real facts should be kept from reporters.

This change of front had not been on for more than two hours when the newspaper men started an independent investigation. While the newspaper men are investigating the grave robbery the private detectives are busy shadowing the newspaper men and trying to destroy the sources of news that are found. Gilbert Perkins, the head of the detective force of that name and in command here, is making a great parade of his work. In the morning automobiles drive up the road house and the detectives pile into them and are whisked away. These rides are short ones and soon the detectives come gliding into the hotel when they think no one is watching their movements. Others keep to their rooms in the morning until they know the reporters are stirring and then they shadow the reporters. The investigation is fast becoming a joke and one for which the Strongs are paying because of their efforts to have the case die down.

At the suggestion of Perkins, Mrs. Strong changed her tactics today and consented to talk to newspaper men. Heretofore the mere thought of an interview has been enough to upset her. She went over the same ground that silk did in the formal statement she issued on Friday.

"Could anybody—a man, say—who is very well known and very closely connected with your family have had a hand in the grave robbery, Mrs. Strong?" she was asked.

"Oh, dear no! How could you imagine such a thing? I have no idea who has done this thing?"

"Haven't the detectives you have employed reported to you from time to time what they have learned?"

"Yes."

"Have they not told you whom they suspected and that they would soon have sufficient evidence on which to make an arrest and secure a conviction?"

"How should I know every move the detectives are making? I employed them, when I believed one of the bodies had been taken from the mausoleum, to find the body and get it back and to apprehend the culprits."

"But now you have said that none of the bodies is missing. What work is there now for the detectives to do?"

"Why, you see, we're keeping them at work because we are afraid that the ghouls will return to the mausoleum and will again try to get in to the tomb."

"But the detectives are not employed as guards at the tomb. The men on guard there are members of the police department. What are the detectives doing?"

"They are making an investigation."

"Mrs. Strong, on Friday you gave out a statement that all of the bodies were in the crypts. Did you see the bodies, and do you know of your own knowledge that such is the case?"

"My representatives did. I did not. My chauffeur, Charles Tyser, on Friday morning discovered that the missing body was in another crypt."

"You went out to the tomb then, did you not?"

"Yes."

"Did you see the bodies?"

"Why, what was the use of my making a detailed examination? My representatives had done that, and I simply wanted to see what would have to be done to restore the mausoleum to order."

"Do not the circumstances point to the fact that some man who was formerly intimate with the family, but who is so no longer, has directed the desecration of the tomb out of motives of revenge?"

"Revenge? Why, what should anybody want to be revenged on any member of my family for? We have no enemies. That theory is out of the question."

"May be out of the question, Mrs. Strong, but is it true?"

"I must decline to discuss any such probability," and Mrs. Strong closed the interview.

FRECKLES GONE

"Simple Remedy from W. A. Erman & Son Removed Them," Says Society Lady.

"The best skin specialists told me that nothing would remove my freckles and that I would carry them to my grave," said a well known society woman, "but I fooled them all with a new drug, othine—double strength, that I bought at W. A. Erman & Son's, which cleared my skin and gave me a fine complexion."

The action of othine is really remarkable, for when applied at night many of the freckles disappear entirely by morning and the rest have begun to fade. An ounce is usually all that is needed, even for the worst case.

Be sure to ask W. A. Erman & Son for the double strength othine, as this is sold under a guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

The Monkey and the Book.

A story is told of an eminent naturalist (I forget his name) who was hoping to develop the intelligence of a monkey to whose education he was devoting himself. One day he saw with delight that the monkey was sitting at the other end of the room turning over the leaves of a valuable book on entomology and looking at the plates with apparent interest. But on going nearer he saw, with dismay, that the monkey was turning over the plates in order that when he came to a particularly large beetle or butterfly he might pick it out and eat it. As the paper could not have had a nice taste, I think he may have been actuated rather by the fun of the thing than by a mere depraved appetite. Perhaps he was verifying the like method of learning among the philosophers of Laputa.—London Spectator.

ORRINE DESTROYS DESIRE FOR DRINK

The man who drinks to excess needs treatment for his condition. The Orrine treatment can be used with absolute confidence. It destroys all desire for whiskey, beer and other intoxicants. It is a simple treatment, it is given in the home—no sanitarium expense—no loss of time from work. It is an inexpensive treatment. Many men spend more in a day for whiskey and beer for their friends and themselves than would pay for the treatment.

We are so sure that Orrine will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, we will give your money back.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. ORRINE costs only $1.00 a box. Write for Free ORRINE Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to ORRINE CO., 665 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. ORRINE is recommended and is for sale in this city by Frank D. Hall, 10 North Side Square.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Sixty Day Suspension.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 14.—Application has been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the railroads operating East from Chicago for permission to suspend for 60 days the effective date of the new transit rules drawn up several months ago, to comply with the views of the commission as to the alterations necessary to secure greater protection of violations of the tariff. The new rules were to go into effect Wednesday, Feb. 15, and the added time is asked that consideration may be given to objections raised by the Chicago Board of Trade.

Making a Locomotive.

Mr. Hiram C. Cortlandt, the well known theologian, of Des Moines, said in a recent address: Thomas A. Edison tells us that he thinks the soul is not immortal; but, after all, what does this great wizard know about souls? His forte is electricity and machinery and when he talks of souls he reminds me irresistibly of the young lady who visited the Baldwin locomotive works and then told how a locomotive is made. 'You pour,' she said, 'a lot of sand into a lot of boxes, and throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and then you empty the molten stream into a hole in the sand, and everybody yells and swears. Then you pour it out, let it cool and pound it, and then you put in it a thing that bores holes in it. Then you screw it together and paint it, and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly, and they take it to a drafting room and make a blue print of it. But one thing I forgot—you have to make a boiler. One man gets inside and one gets outside and they pound frightfully, and then they tie it to the other thing, and you ought to see it go!'"

Do you use an atomizer in treating Nasal Catarrh? If so you will appreciate Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, the quickest and surest remedy for this disease. In all curative properties it is identical with the solid Cream Balm, which is so famous and so successful in overcoming Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in the head. Notice is hereby given to William M. Jones of Mt. Union, Des Moines County, Iowa; Mary Jones Myers, Roscoe, Des Moines County, Iowa; Sarah Jones Fye, Yarmouth, Des Moines County, Iowa; Annie Jones, Featherley, Yarmouth, Des Moines County, Iowa; Lincoln H. Jones, Red Oak, Montgomery County, Iowa; Thomas M. Jacob, Hope, Steele County, North Dakota; Ellen Jacob Biggs, Columbus City, Louisa County, Iowa; Mary Jacob Mollie, Wapello, Louisa County, Iowa, and Robert E. Jacob, Paris, Monroe County, Missouri, that on the 13th day of February, 1911, David M. Jacob commenced an action in the Probate Court of Licking County, Ohio, against the above named parties as defendants, alleging that Thomas Morris died testate on December 22, 1887, seized in fee simple of lots 606 and 607 as described on the plat of Crane's Addition, City of Newark, Licking County, Ohio, recorded in Vol. 2 of Plats, page 144, and also the east half of a certain alley lying immediately west of said lots 606, see Vol. 85 of Deeds, page 342, Vol. 104 of Deeds, page 28, Vol. 93 of Deeds, page 561, Recorder's office of said county, for a more particular description of said real estate.

That Thomas Morris died testate, it will being recorded in Vol. 11 of Wills, said County, page 275, by which he devised the said real estate to his second wife during her natural life and after her death to his two sisters, Eliza Jones and Mary Jacob and the survivor of them during their lives and after their death to said testator's nephews and nieces equally or to the issue of such of them who were living at the termination of the above mentioned life estate.

That the said second wife and said two sisters have died and that the said plaintiff and the above named parties are all of the nephews and nieces of said Thomas Morris, who were living at the termination of said life estate and are now seized in fee simple of the undivided one-tenth of the real estate above described.

The object and prayer of said petition is that the said real estate may be partitioned equally among the said ten nephews and nieces, if that cannot be done without manifest injury to the property that the Court order said real estate to be appraised and sold and the proceeds to be divided equally among said ten nephews and nieces.

You are hereby notified that you and each of you are required to answer said petition on or before Saturday, the 6th day of May, 1911, or judgment will be taken according to the prayer of said petition.

Valentine Valley

BY ROBERTUS LOVE

COPYRIGHT, 1911, BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

IN Valentine Valley I dwell and dream,
Lounging enrapt by a radiant stream,
Lying enchanted beneath the sky.
While the old babbling world wags by.

IN Valentine Valley the piled up years
Roll off like clouds, until Youth appears—
A wraith o' the past, and his face is mine
As it was in the days of Auld Lang Syne.

IN Valentine Valley a Presence comes (Ah, thrill of the bugles and throb of the drums—
Nay, palpitant, pulsing, perfect note
Of love's low song from the linnet's throat!)

IN Valentine Valley the girl I knew
When life was a lyric of dawn and dew,
When love was a dash of the dew and the dawn,
Comes out of the mists of the years agone.

IN Valentine Valley, beside the stream
Where lazing and lounging I doze and dream,
She calls to me softly, and hand in hand
We wander away to Enchantment Land.

IN Valentine Valley—why, now and here
Are the place and the time, it is perfectly clear:
And it is not a dream—it is love, it is life.
For the Girl is the Woman who is my wife.

THIS AND THAT

Abe Martin says:
Miss Fawn Lippincut wrote this while recoverin' from a operation:
"Oh th' purty little birds!
How I love to hear them sing,
Ez they flit from tree t' tree—
Let me count them, one, two three!
Some er red an' some er blue,
But th' red er very few."

About the size of your shoes, it's some satisfaction to know that many people can wear shoes a size smaller by shaking Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder, into them. Just the thing for Dancing Parties, Patent Leather Shoes, and for Breaking in New Shoes. When rubbers or overshoes become necessary and your shoes pinch, Allen's Foot-Ease gives instant relief. Sold Everywhere, 25c. Sample FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y. Don't accept any substitute.
